WHO is going to rule Egypt after Gamal Abdel Nasser? General Nasser, most probably, his relations both with the Moslem Brotherhood and the leaders of the old parties have not been impaired in recent months. But if this change comes, there is some reason to suppose that it may happen fairly soon, it will not be merely a switch of personalities. Nasser, too, is a body like any other, and he will carry out changes in both domestic and foreign policy. On the domestic scene, he will of course have to grant the Moslem Brotherhood legal status again and will probably have to do the same for the rest of the dissolved parties. What, however, modest social reforms were envisaged or has actually begun, will have to cease. And in foreign policy he will have to inform the British, with much regret of course, that the Suez Treaty as it stands cannot be signed, that it will have to be radically changed and that the idea of reactivation of the base (or any closer tie with the West, in general) will have to be relinquished. The one thing that can be predicted with reasonable measure of certainty with regard to the next Egyptian Government, is that it will not make things any better for Egypt's neighbors and the world at large. More probably it will make things worse.

THE Moslem Brotherhood has already proclaimed a semi-holy war from Syria which is rapidly becoming the Guatemala of the Middle East. As far as its foreign political orientation is concerned, (Sheikh Mustafa Sibai, the head of the Syrian branch of the Brotherhood, has temporarily taken over command, and he has attacked the Cairo Junta as traitors to the cause of anti-imperialism. Sibai himself is a once-bitten child, he put his stakes during World War II on the wrong horse (the Allies), and he has lived down the reputation of being a collaborator only with great difficulty. His colleagues who opted for the Nazis, such as Dr. Duailibi, have had far more spectacular careers. Nasser, today, he is now calling on Egyptian students, undoubtedly the most important political force in the country, to demonstrate, as the Moslem Brotherhood has done in opening this week, large-scale demonstrations are expected and may give the signal for a general protest movement. These students (many in fact are pupils in the higher grades of the secondary schools) in political demonstrations, like students everywhere, vague and immature, according to a close observer who spent a few years in a Cairo university. A large proportion of them are Communists, but "very few of those know even the first thing about that creed." Nevertheless, the Communist Party is the organized body among the students. It is very difficult to find out from them what the policies of their "leader" are. The Moslem Brotherhood are particularly bad in that respect. They would not come down to brass tacks at all, and without details of economic reforms and a return to the principles of Islam, only on the virtues of political assassination would they be precise.

ACCORDING to Mr. Heyworth A Dunne, the historian of the Moslem Brotherhood, the Ikhwan have five million members in Egypt. But he has become a Moslem himself, and a member of the Ikhwan, and according to most other observers, 100,000 would be a more realistic figure. This is a country where no other political parties exist in a first class power. Even the Communists, who are estimated at 2,000 members, divided into two groups ("Towards the Egyptian Communist Party" and "Democratic Movement of National Liberation") as well as half a dozen "front" organizations are not a negligible quantity. In contrast to the Moslem Brotherhood who are a purely destructive force with a considerable nuisance value but incapable of ruling, the Communists know at least what they want and how to get it.

Little members of the Junta, though incompetent, are no fools and must have felt the storm brewing for some time. Lacking a mass base of their own they cannot succeed against the Ikhwan, merely by banning them anywhere than Nokrashi did in 1948. Nasser appears to think that if the world comes to the worst, he will always be able to gain public support for some action against Israel, and this seems to be the backbone of the 2nd Galim incident. He appears to have seen the writing on the wall but does not quite know what the words mean.

US Senator Says Army Invites Bloodshed
WASHINGTON, Saturday (UP). — Senator George Eastman (Democrat) said today that the Administration programme for sending arms to the Arab states is a "flagrant, open invitation to bloodshed, barbarity and brutality."

He also described it as a "dangerous move akin to lighting a match for the fuse to the Middle East powder keg."

He said "it is obvious this new policy plays directly into the hands of those elements in the Arab world who are unconcerned with Israel's existence."

Israel Asks MAC Probe Into Bat Galim Seizure

Israel has lodged a claim with the Egypt-Israel Mixed Armistice Commission in reply to the complaint made to that body by Egypt on October 6, in which she alleges that the Israel vessel Bat Galim had performed an act of armed aggression against an Egyptian fishing vessel, the Army spokesman stated yesterday.

The 'Israel claim declares that Egypt's complaint is completely unfounded. It says that the Bat Galim was engaged in a peaceful fishing voyage and was carrying out changes in both domestic and foreign policy. On the domestic scene, he will of course have to grant the Moslem Brotherhood legal status again and will probably have to do the same for the rest of the dissolved parties. What, however, modest social reforms were envisaged or has actually begun, will have to cease. And in foreign policy he will have to inform the British, with much regret of course, that the Suez Treaty as it stands cannot be signed, that it will have to be radically changed and that the idea of reactivation of the base (or any closer tie with the West, in general) will have to be relinquished. The one thing that can be predicted with reasonable measure of certainty with regard to the next Egyptian Government, is that it will not make things any better for Egypt's neighbors and the world at large. More probably it will make things worse.

Operation BO-PEEP RETURNS 423 SHEEP

Following a series of strong representations to the Truce Supervision Organization the Army spokesman reported that 423 of the original 481 stolen sheep near Givat On on September 27, from the flock belonging to Kibbutz Ein Hashofet, were returned to Israel.

The UN authorities have been requested to take measures for the return of the remainder of the flock, the spokesman added. In a broadcast yesterday, Kol Yisrael stated that, in addition to the 423 sheep returned, the Jordanians had sent back 40 of their own sheep. These were sent back to Jordan by Israel.

Brewster Approved As MAC Chairman

Sgha-Aluf Arye Shalev, Officer in charge of the Mixed Armistice Commission, has notified General E.L.M. Burns, Chief of the U.N. Truce Supervision Organization, that Israel agrees to the appointment of Colonel Charles Brewster as Chairman of the Israel-Jordan Mixed Armistice Commission, the Army spokesman announced yesterday.

Jordan has also declared her acceptance of the nomination, and formal agreement is expected today.

Jordan has stated her readiness to waive all outstanding complaints on the agenda of the Israel-Jordan M.A.C., with the exception of charges concerning the alleged expulsion from Israel of some 70 infiltrators, General Burns disclosed.

UJA to Raise $50m. Cash in 1954

By ESSE ZEL LURIE, Jerusalem Post Correspondent

NEW YORK, Saturday. — The United Jewish Appeal will raise $50m. in cash this year, as well as $10m. to $12m. the first year's repayments of the $50m. Consolidation Loan — Mr. Joseph Schwartz, Executive Chairman, told me today.

The 1954 cash total, therefore, will approach the 1953 figure of $60m. Mr. Schwartz expects a seven to eight per cent drop this year on pledges which totalled $66m. last year.

Considering the serious reductions in profits of many industries, Mr. Schwartz believes that the UJA is doing well.
